LIFE IN TENNESSEEThe Tale of Jasper Starbuck the "Moon-shiner."

"The Cowboy and the Lady" was very successfully presented by the Neills last evening to a most appreciative audience, among whom was Admiral Evans, guest of a box party given by Governor and Mrs. Carter.

Tonight "The Starbuck," one of the most successful and most original of American character comedies, will be given. Its author, Opie Read, has created a play springing from the soil and delineating men and women with more than a touch of naturalism.

It portrays life in the Tennessee mountains, the chief character being that of "Starbuck," a typical moonshiner hunted down by a U. S. Marshal who has been jilted by the old distiller's daughter. James Neill has won much praise for his delineation of this part.

The piece possesses an infectious and spontaneous humor and its key of sturdy, patriotic manhood rings true and clear, holding the auditor to the close.

The Christmas matinee will be played entirely for the benefit of the Home for Consumptive Actors about to be built in Colorado. The various Elks' lodges in the country are planning a series of entertainments and Mr. Neill himself kindly made the offer of his company's services to the local lodge, an offer which they promptly and gladly accepted, Mr. Cohen offering his share for the same cause. "The Christian" is the bill to be repeated at night.

As a special bill, likely to suit the times, "A Contented Woman" will be played on Saturday evening and as with Hoyt's original productions, the vaudeville feature of the entertainment will be strongly brought out. Aside from the very excellent talent of the Neills, the fleet is to be cued of its choicest singers and "stunt" makers for the occasion.

According to the first quotation above the office is vacant until the required bond is given, and how any such vacancy is to be filled is prescribed in paragraph 15, Sec. 22, Chap. 8, of "General Permanent Powers and Duties of the Board of Supervisors," thus:

"15.—To fill by appointment all vacancies that occur in any office filled by the Board of Supervisors and elective County or District officers, except that of Supervisor, the appointee to hold office for the unexpired term or until the next general election."

Another important matter decided was the choice of county office accommodation. On motion of Frank Harvey, it was voted to take steps to secure rooms for county offices in the Alexander Young building.

The meeting adjourned until 1:30 p. m. next Tuesday. At that meeting it is appointed that the various heads of departments will be asked to submit a statement of their requirements for office assistance and furnishings.

All of the Supervisors were present, viz: Messrs. Gilman, presiding; Robinson, Lucas, Hocking, Harvey, Mahoe and Keoloha. Mr. Lucas acted as interpreter, Supervisor Mahoe being ignorant of English.

WHO PAYS FOR THE COAT?

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 18.—A business man of this city went into a clothing store this week and looked at a number of overcoats. He departed without making a purchase, but went back the next morning and, walking to the counter where the coats lay, picked up one he had tried on the day before. "I've concluded to take this," he said, and handing out $25, walked out, wearing the coat.

When he reached home he learned that his brother had sent him an overcoat as a present. So the next morning the man went back to the clothing store and asked the clerk if he would take the coat back, explaining the reason. The record of sale was looked up, but a patient search failed to reveal any sale ticket. The clerk who had shown the coat recalled that, but not the sale.

Who sold the coat? This was the question in which the proprietor was interested, and every clerk in the store was called, but the purchaser shook his head as each appeared. Finally it dawned upon the man that some one who probably was looking at the overcoats when he entered had taken the $25 and then had left the store.

Then the proprietor demanded that the coat be paid for or that it be left at the store, saying that the firm had received nothing for it. After some controversy it was decided to leave it to a lawyer who is a mutual friend of proprietor and purchaser. The attorney is now investigating the question, Who should lose the $25?

As under the Torrens Act new corporations must register titles, the five new water license corporations of Maui are about to file petitions in the Land Registration Court.
